

Georgian Society of Psychotrauma (GSP)
Global Initiative on Psychiatry – Tbilisi (GIP-Tbilisi)
European Society of Traumatic Stress Study (ESTSS)
Dart Center for Journalism and Trauma

are glad to announce the International Conference

“Post-Emergency Responses: an Integrated Approach to psychotrauma”

that will be held on October 17-18, 2008 in Tbilisi

This conference aims to provide a high-quality, professional exchange forum for participants for discussing the past and recent experiences in traumatic stress field, ways of responding to acute crisis following August military actions. The conference will offer the comprehensive overview of evidence-based interventions currently available for those affected by disasters both in emergencies and the long-term perspective.

The conference will be the official launching event for Georgian Society of Psychotrauma (GSP), the national professional society, affiliated with European Society of Traumatic Stress Study (ESTSS) and established in June, 2007.

The European well known trauma professionals will be presenting at the conference.

Georgian participants will contribute with their approaches and experiences. The additional value will be the event held by Dart center that connects the psychotrauma field with journalism – a separate workshop will be organized by journalists from the USA.

The conference will host up to 60 participants. The announcement for poster presentations is still valid.
